CREATIVE LEARNERS ARE...

- RESPONSIBLE CITIZENS
- SUCCESSFUL LEARNERS
- enthused and motivated
- open to new thinking and ideas
- persistent and determined
- able to transfer their creativity
- authentic and self-aware
- independent thinkers
- informed risk takers
- able to develop their own beliefs
- empowered to change the world
- inventive
- enterprising
- ideas generating
- able to lead
- driven to create and contribute
- curious about different beliefs and cultures
- open-minded to others
- able to imagine what others are feeling
- adaptable and flexible

Empowerability Skills

Creativity skills are highly valued by employers who increasingly look for flexibility, resilience and entrepreneurship from proactive employees. Not only are the UK Creative Industries forecasting that creative jobs are proving to be more future-proof and automation-proof, Creativity skills can create a higher premium compared to more traditional business and invest more capital in the future. The importance of them is clear.

Skills for Life

Creativity skills empower us all to take control of our lives – they are vital to our capacity for autonomy, personal growth, self-acceptance and in gaining a sense of purpose. Creativity skills make us more resilient and able to thrive in a changing world by being adaptable, flexible and inventive. Psychologists have also identified creativity as one of the vital ingredients to sustaining long term relationships.

Creativity skills are highly valued by employers who increasingly look for flexibility, resilience and entrepreneurship from proactive employees. Not only are the UK Creative Industries forecasting that creative jobs are proving to be more future-proof and automation-proof, Creativity skills can create a higher premium compared to more traditional business and invest more capital in the future. The importance of them is clear.

Skills for Life

Creativity skills empower us all to take control of our lives – they are vital to our capacity for autonomy, personal growth, self-acceptance and in gaining a sense of purpose. Creativity skills make us more resilient and able to thrive in a changing world by being adaptable, flexible and inventive. Psychologists have also identified creativity as one of the vital ingredients to sustaining long term relationships.

Creativity skills are highly valued by employers who increasingly look for flexibility, resilience and entrepreneurship from proactive employees. Not only are the UK Creative Industries forecasting that creative jobs are proving to be more future-proof and automation-proof, Creativity skills can create a higher premium compared to more traditional business and invest more capital in the future. The importance of them is clear.

Skills for Life

Creativity skills empower us all to take control of our lives – they are vital to our capacity for autonomy, personal growth, self-acceptance and in gaining a sense of purpose. Creativity skills make us more resilient and able to thrive in a changing world by being adaptable, flexible and inventive. Psychologists have also identified creativity as one of the vital ingredients to sustaining long term relationships.

Creativity skills are highly valued by employers who increasingly look for flexibility, resilience and entrepreneurship from proactive employees. Not only are the UK Creative Industries forecasting that creative jobs are proving to be more future-proof and automation-proof, Creativity skills can create a higher premium compared to more traditional business and invest more capital in the future. The importance of them is clear.

Skills for Life

Creativity skills empower us all to take control of our lives – they are vital to our capacity for autonomy, personal growth, self-acceptance and in gaining a sense of purpose. Creativity skills make us more resilient and able to thrive in a changing world by being adaptable, flexible and inventive. Psychologists have also identified creativity as one of the vital ingredients to sustaining long term relationships.

Creativity skills are highly valued by employers who increasingly look for flexibility, resilience and entrepreneurship from proactive employees. Not only are the UK Creative Industries forecasting that creative jobs are proving to be more future-proof and automation-proof, Creativity skills can create a higher premium compared to more traditional business and invest more capital in the future. The importance of them is clear.

Skills for Life

Creativity skills empower us all to take control of our lives – they are vital to our capacity for autonomy, personal growth, self-acceptance and in gaining a sense of purpose. Creativity skills make us more resilient and able to thrive in a changing world by being adaptable, flexible and inventive. Psychologists have also identified creativity as one of the vital ingredients to sustaining long term relationships.

Creativity skills are highly valued by employers who increasingly look for flexibility, resilience and entrepreneurship from proactive employees. Not only are the UK Creative Industries forecasting that creative jobs are proving to be more future-proof and automation-proof, Creativity skills can create a higher premium compared to more traditional business and invest more capital in the future. The importance of them is clear.

Skills for Life

Creativity skills empower us all to take control of our lives – they are vital to our capacity for autonomy, personal growth, self-acceptance and in gaining a sense of purpose. Creativity skills make us more resilient and able to thrive in a changing world by being adaptable, flexible and inventive. Psychologists have also identified creativity as one of the vital ingredients to sustaining long term relationships.

Creativity skills are highly valued by employers who increasingly look for flexibility, resilience and entrepreneurship from proactive employees. Not only are the UK Creative Industries forecasting that creative jobs are proving to be more future-proof and automation-proof, Creativity skills can create a higher premium compared to more traditional business and invest more capital in the future. The importance of them is clear.

Skills for Life

Creativity skills empower us all to take control of our lives – they are vital to our capacity for autonomy, personal growth, self-acceptance and in gaining a sense of purpose. Creativity skills make us more resilient and able to thrive in a changing world by being adaptable, flexible and inventive. Psychologists have also identified creativity as one of the vital ingredients to sustaining long term relationships.

Creativity skills are highly valued by employers who increasingly look for flexibility, resilience and entrepreneurship from proactive employees. Not only are the UK Creative Industries forecasting that creative jobs are proving to be more future-proof and automation-proof, Creativity skills can create a higher premium compared to more traditional business and invest more capital in the future. The importance of them is clear.

Skills for Life

Creativity skills empower us all to take control of our lives – they are vital to our capacity for autonomy, personal growth, self-acceptance and in gaining a sense of purpose. Creativity skills make us more resilient and able to thrive in a changing world by being adaptable, flexible and inventive. Psychologists have also identified creativity as one of the vital ingredients to sustaining long term relationships.

Creativity skills are highly valued by employers who increasingly look for flexibility, resilience and entrepreneurship from proactive employees. Not only are the UK Creative Industries forecasting that creative jobs are proving to be more future-proof and automation-proof, Creativity skills can create a higher premium compared to more traditional business and invest more capital in the future. The importance of them is clear.

Skills for Life

Creativity skills empower us all to take control of our lives – they are vital to our capacity for autonomy, personal growth, self-acceptance and in gaining a sense of purpose. Creativity skills make us more resilient and able to thrive in a changing world by being adaptable, flexible and inventive. Psychologists have also identified creativity as one of the vital ingredients to sustaining long term relationships.

Creativity skills are highly valued by employers who increasingly look for flexibility, resilience and entrepreneurship from proactive employees. Not only are the UK Creative Industries forecasting that creative jobs are proving to be more future-proof and automation-proof, Creativity skills can create a higher premium compared to more traditional business and invest more capital in the future. The importance of them is clear.

Skills for Life

Creativity skills empower us all to take control of our lives – they are vital to our capacity for autonomy, personal growth, self-acceptance and in gaining a sense of purpose. Creativity skills make us more resilient and able to thrive in a changing world by being adaptable, flexible and inventive. Psychologists have also identified creativity as one of the vital ingredients to sustaining long term relationships.