Introduction

It's been a confusing time for all of us, but especially for 12-17 year olds. They have different sets of rules to follow at school and at home, and some also feel that they're less at risk and should be able to live normally.

But it's really important that we all follow the guidance, so that we can keep schools open.

This toolkit contains a range of assets that help to explain the guidance which 12-17 year olds should be following, and why it's important that they do so.

A reminder of the important actions we all need to take to prevent the spread of COVID-19:

Face coverings in enclosed areas

Avoid crowded spaces

Clean hands and surfaces frequently

Two metre distancing

Self-isolate and book a test if you have symptoms

School bulletin

Please use the following copy for your school bulletin to reinforce the current restrictions for your pupils:

Headline: Keep COVID out of class.
Sub: And let's help keep schools open.

Coming to school and seeing friends is so much better than being stuck at home. No more long, boring days with online learning and lunchtimes on your own.

Open schools mean you get variety to your days and the chance to interact with other people, while learning new things.

We know it seems strange that you can do certain things at school but not outside of school. But limiting some of the things we can do outside of school helps to stop the spread, keeps schools open and makes it easier for lots of other places to stay open too. Like shops, cafés and cinemas.

To keep this going we all need to make good decisions around coronavirus. Good decisions like wearing face coverings in crowded places and on school and public transport, following FACTS outside of school grounds, keeping clean hands, self-isolating when you or a member of your household has symptoms and staying 2 metres from teachers and adults and as far as possible from fellow pupils. If we all keep making good decisions like these, we will get through it together.
