

Culture, Systems and

Practice

January 2025

Copyright

Crown copyright 2025.

You may re-use this information (not including logos) free of charge in any format or medium, under the terms of the Open Government Licence.

To view this licence, visit the National Archives website.

Please contact us if you would like to know more about Education Scotland publications.

First published August 2024.

[Views expressed in this report are not necessarily those of Education Scotland or any other government department.]

Contents

| Copyright | 2 |
|-----------|---|
| Contents  | 3 |
| Purpose   | 4 |
| Culture   | 5 |
| Systems   | 7 |
| Practice  | 8 |

Purpose

The three themes of 'culture, systems and practice' are integral when considering approaches to improving attendance and engagement. These should be considered as cogs which are interdependent.

The purpose of this resource is to support educational establishments and practitioners to:

- Identify the elements within culture, systems and practice that are working well
- Identify any areas that could be strengthened, next steps and possible tests of change
- Have easy access to existing materials that support approaches within culture, systems and practice

This resource is intended to be a 'easy to use audit' tool. A comprehensive set of reflective questions to support self-evaluation and improvement planning can be found here: Promoting attendance self-reflection questions for educational-settings.

Within each of the three themes, you will find links to resources already available. This is not an exhaustive list but is intended to be a helpful reference.

Culture

Key elements which promote an inclusive and caring culture are outlined below. This is designed to be used as a 'quick check' that will help establishments to quickly identify the elements of where they should focus their self-evaluation efforts to improve attendance and engagement. When areas for further development have been identified, Promoting attendance self-reflection questions for educational-settings will support both the self-evaluation and planning process.

Rate each element between 1 (significant area for improvement) and 5 (major strength).

| Elements                             | Rating (1-5) | Comments |
|--------------------------------------|--------------|----------|
| Clear leadership is in place to      |              |          |
| drive forward improvement            |              |          |
| Equity and inclusion are             |              |          |
| embedded                             |              |          |
| Compassionate, flexible              |              |          |
| relationships are in place           |              |          |
| Support is available for families to |              |          |
| build their confidence               |              |          |
| Feelings of safety and belonging     |              |          |
| for all are prioritised              |              |          |
| Universal and targeted               |              |          |
| approaches to improve attendance     |              |          |
| and engagement are balanced          |              |          |
| The views and contributions of       |              |          |
| parents and carers, partners and     |              |          |
| community members are valued         |              |          |
| All stakeholders understand the      |              |          |
| importance of attendance and         |              |          |
| engagement                           |              |          |
| Evidence of cross-sector working -   |              |          |
| avoiding a discrete problem-         |              |          |
| solving approach                     |              |          |
| Clear arrangements for effective     |              |          |
| transitions are in place             |              |          |
| Staff wellbeing is supported         |              |          |
| effectively                          |              |          |
| Whole-school approaches to           |              |          |
| mental-health and wellbeing in       |              |          |
| place                                |              |          |
| Consistency of language and          |              |          |
| understanding of approaches to       |              |          |
| promote an inclusive and caring      |              |          |

| culture, underpinned by |  |
|-------------------------|--|
| professional learning   |  |

Systems

Key elements which support the development of effective systems are outlined below. This is designed to be used as a 'quick check' that will help establishments to quickly identify the elements of where they should focus their self-evaluation efforts to improve attendance and engagement. When areas for further development have been identified, Promoting attendance self-reflection questions for educational- settings will support both the self-evaluation and planning process.

Rate each element between 1 (significant area for improvement) and 5 (major strength).

| Elements                                         | Rating (1-5) | Comments |
|--------------------------------------------------|--------------|----------|
| Effective use of data to identify                |              |          |
| early warning signs                              |              |          |
| Rigorous tracking and monitoring of all absences |              |          |
| Analysis of 'actionable data'                    |              |          |
| Identify history of absence                      |              |          |
| Evidence-based support                           |              |          |
| approaches                                       |              |          |
| Whole school approaches are                      |              |          |
| clear and used consistently                      |              |          |
| Systems highlight absence                        |              |          |
| through a range of lenses                        |              |          |
| Multi-dimensional, multi-tiered                  |              |          |
| systems of support                               |              |          |
| Processes are in place to ensure                 |              |          |
| the voices of children, young                    |              |          |
| people and families are acted on                 |              |          |
| Systems align with the language                  |              |          |
| and ethos of an inclusive and                    |              |          |
| caring culture                                   |              |          |
| Support identification of                        |              |          |
| professional learning needs                      |              |          |

Practice

Key elements which will support practice are outlined below. This is designed to be used as a 'quick check' that will help establishments to quickly identify the elements of where they should focus their self-evaluation efforts to improve attendance and engagement. When areas for further development have been identified, Promoting attendance self-reflection questions for educational-settings will support both the self-evaluation and planning process.

Rate each element between 1 (significant area for improvement) and 5 (major strength).

| Elements                                                                         | Rating (1-5) | Comments |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|----------|
| Approaches align to the valuesand culture                                    |              |          |
| 'Getting it Right for Every Child' is at the centre                              |              |          |
| Reflects the views of the young person                                           |              |          |
| Evidence of curriculum flexibility and learning pathways                         |              |          |
| Consideration given on how topromote access low incomesupports           |              |          |
| Prioritisation given to social and emotional support                             |              |          |
| Ensures the building ofconnections with a key person                         |              |          |
| Targets underlying causes suchas wellbeing and additionalsupport needs   |              |          |
| Activates children and young peoples' motivation                                 |              |          |
| Focus on high-quality learning and teaching                                      |              |          |
| Understands the barriers for theyoung person(s) attendance andengagement |              |          |