

Learning and Teaching in 2021 and Beyond Follow-Up Information:

1. The Scottish Government has various publications and guidance documents related to school, universities, education and childcare throughout Covid-19.
2. The Scottish Government's 'A changing nation: how Scotland will thrive in a digital world' strategy sets out the measures which will ensure that Scotland will fulfil its potential in a constantly evolving digital world.
3. To enhance and complement the work practitioners, schools and local authorities are already undertaking, the following resources provide access to a range of support on remote learning that is available from national organisations.
4. National Overviews of Practice and effective practice exemplars.
5. This resource provides a single point of access to guidance and support for COVID-19 recovery. It includes key advice from the Scottish Government's COVID-19 Education Recovery Group (CERG), and from sources approved by CERG.
6. What Scotland Learned is a collection of inspiring stories about how practitioners across Scotland have responded during the COVID-19 crisis. It is structured around the five themes of How Good is OUR School? and includes contributions from children and young people, adults, families and communities.
7. This professional learning paper accompanies the publication 'What Scotland Learned, 100 stories of lockdown'. It takes the inspiring stories from the book and synthesises them with education research. Designed to support education leaders and practitioners, it takes the six themes that came through the stories and explores the existing evidence-based findings to add depth and understanding to lived experience.
8. CLD Standards Council Website: <https://cldstandardscouncil.org.uk/>
 - National Improvement Hub – COVID recovery resources for CLD
 - Upcoming webinars and online professional learning opportunities for CLD
 - CLD Wakelet – Collections of curated resources
9. Education Scotland's Early Learning and Childcare Summary Page on the National Improvement Hub provides key links for the sector. Practitioners and leaders will find links to relevant Covid-19 recovery advice and support. The page also signposts practitioners to key resources from Education Scotland, the Care Inspectorate and other providers. These include support high quality practice in areas such as transition, outdoor learning and parental engagement and family learning.
10. Professional Learning and Leadership Covid-19 information and professional learning support
11. If you haven't done so already, you may wish to Subscribe to the Education Scotland's fortnightly Scotland Learns Newsletter to get the latest news and updates.