

Creating rich tasks

In this task, it is possible to identify how the task guides the learner into showing their knowledge and understanding as well as their skills. Breadth, challenge and application are also embedded within the task.

Further examples of rich tasks:

Social Subjects

As part of a study of 'Glasgow', research the potential of Glasgow to be host to the Youth Olympic Games in 2018. Using the information you gather, formulate opinions and collate supporting evidence. Write a persuasive essay to present to the IOC promoting Glasgow as the best candidate.

Expressive Arts

Analyse the inspiration, colours, brush strokes, and form of "The Scream" by Edvard Munch. Having created notes on each aspect of the painting, write an analysis of the composition of the work with close reference to the artists and his work. You should also aim to include an evaluation of the painting based on your own opinion.
